MEET SAS

400 residents.

One place they call Home.

For elderly people who need daily nursing care and cannot be cared for at home, the Society for the Aged Sick (SAS) provides more than a bed and a place to stay. It provides residential nursing care, rehabilitation support and assistance with everyday living.

For many residents, SAS is where each day begins and ends. The ward, bathroom, corridor and shared spaces are part of their daily life. They must work safely and reliably for people who may need help to move, bathe and receive treatment.

WHY YOUR SUPPORT IS NEEDED

Care depends on more than people.
It depends on the place.

SAS has cared for residents at its Hougang premises since 1999. In a Home operating 24 hours a day, facilities face constant use. Floors, bathrooms, wards, fittings and shared spaces need regular attention to remain safe, hygienic and fit for care.

A well-maintained bathroom helps caregivers assist a resident safely. Sound flooring and accessible passages support movement through the Home. Functional wards and shared spaces allow nursing care and everyday routines to continue smoothly.

Repairs and improvements are not optional extras. They are part of sustaining the quality of care our residents rely on.
